

---

Cranberry River oct. 21st - 23rd.

Posted by riverrat - 2009/10/27 23:03

---

Fished the Cranberry last week. Weather was great. Fishing was ok. No big ones were taken by us. Lots of stocked browns, I mean a lot. fished a lot of water, hard. 10 hours a day for 3 days. ....fish were acting a little weird, not normal. Had a lot of fun anyway....lotsa little browns and a few nice native brookies....not one bow in three days....hit the Cherry on the way outta town, nailed some nice browns in there as well.....

=====

Re:Cranberry River oct. 21st - 23rd.

Posted by redspruce - 2009/10/28 02:05

---

sounds like fun.....do you think there are still any of those browns left from the recent stocking? i was considering on heading down there in a couple of days....ive never fished the cranberry, does it holdover well?

=====

Re:Cranberry River oct. 21st - 23rd.

Posted by riverrat - 2010/01/09 19:58

---

Ya they stock that thing all the time. One of the most stocked streams in WV. Always stockers in there. Yes it holds over well. But, you need to cover a lot of water. Until you figure them out a little. There are some big fish in there. Natives and stockers.....check out my videos www.youtube.com/riverhunters

=====

Re:Cranberry River oct. 21st - 23rd.

Posted by david - 2010/01/16 01:05

---

They definitely stock the heck out of that stream for sure! The Cranberry is a really fun place to trout fish for sure. I'm looking forward to a trip down there soon.

=====